“Enhancing Social and Digital Participation - Bridging the Gap: Sharing Our Learnings & Learning from Others”

In order to age well it is crucial that people are able to live autonomously and self-determined for as long as possible. For this it needs a world without barriers and neighbourhoods, which support autonomy and social participation. Meanwhile social participation increasingly also encompasses digital participation.

Please register for the event with short indication of your name, country and organization (if applicable) via email to dobner@queraum.org
